DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to because in Figure 1a element 15 has no lead line. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3751

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 1, 3 and 9-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Haar et al.

In regard to claims 1, 3, 10 and 11, the Haar et al. reference discloses an "injection device" (Fig. 4) comprising a "container" 46, a re-usable "pressure generating mechanism" (41 and 48) and a "primary source" 17 of potential energy, as claimed. Further, the "primary source" 17 can be a soft rubber or sterile saline solution, which are compressible.

In regard to claim 9, see "ampoule" 14.

In regard to claim 12, see "cap" 44.

In regard to claims 13 and 14, see "plug" 41

In regard to claim 15, see "flexible wall" 13.

In regard to claim 16, see "plug" 22.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2 and 4-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Haar et al.

In regard to claims 2 and 5-7, the Haar et al. reference discloses the invention as claimed (discussed supra) including a "piston" and "soft rubber" as a primary source, but does not disclose the compressibility of the primary source being 1.2 times that of water. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to employ a material having 1.2 times the compressibility of water, since it has been held that discovering an optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art. In re Boesch, 617F 2d 272, 205 USPQ 215 (CCPA 1980).

In regard to claim 4, the Haar et al. reference discloses the invention as claimed (discussed supra), but does not disclose the primary source being a polysiloxane. However, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the primary source of potential energy of a polysiloxane material, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 8, 17-21 and 25 are allowed.

Claims 22-24 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the above rejected claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
